Ike, Democrats Disappointed by Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 86th Congress has adjourned after a post-convention session that cracked with politics and produced disappointments for both the Democrats and President Eisenhower.

The House quit Thursday night at 6:52 p.m., the Senate at 11:51 p.m. after spending more than three hours trying to round up a quorum of 51 members to complete its business.

The final flurry of Senate debate whirled around a proposal to provide more money for a watchdog subcommittee to check on whether radio and TV stations give fair treatment in political broadcasts. The proposal died with adjournment.

Also left in the legislative limbo was a measure that would have given Eisenhower a free hand in cutting or eliminating a special sugar quota assigned to the Dominican Republic, with which the United States has broken diplomatic relations.

It was a Senate-House dispute over the sugar bill which had blocked adjournment a day earlier. Each side held firm and the bill died.

Facing each other in the Senate chamber through much of the four-week session were the Democratic residential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, and the Republican stand ar-bearer, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Senate's presiding officer.

Leaders in both political camps were less than enthusiastic when the windup came.

Kennedy said the Republican aim in the short session was to embarrass the Democrats and conceal the "empty negative record" of the GOP. He accused the Republican leadership of trying to block action on several issues he favored.

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana described the August session as an exercise in futility. He said, "If it was designed to put the Democratic presidential campaign ticket into orbit, it fizzled out on the launching platform."

Although both sides suffered disappointments, the Democratic-controlled session took care of several legislative chores. Measures passed included foreign aid appropriations and money needed for some of the government's routine operations, a bill aimed at helping certain old persons with their medical expenses, the anti-atomic treaty and a measure directed at eliminating practices such as payola in the broadcast industry.

Dollarwise, the 1960 session of the 86th voted more than 82 billion dollars in appropriations — a record for any peacetime year. The figure includes such permanent appropriations as interest on the national debt.

Highway Patrol To Be Very Rough

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If a highway patrolman signals you to pull off the road during the coming Labor Day weekend, he won't be warning you. You can figure you're under arrest.

Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys told Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's cabinet today that state patrolmen have been instructed to "put their warning books away."

"We're going to get tough—really tough," the governor chimed in. "And it's the reckless driver we're after."

Earlier, Keys had issued the ominous forecast that 29 persons will die in Ohio traffic during the weekend which begins at 6 p.m. today and ends at midnight Monday.

"We'd like nothing better than to be 100 per cent wrong, to have zero fatalities," he added.

Last year 31 died on the Labor

Day holiday. The highest toll in recent years was in 1955 when 33 died.

Nearly 100 million Americans will ease their jobs into neutral and relax over the weekend.

For millions, the three-day respite meant heading for recreation haunts—the woods, the beaches, the homes of relatives.

Many millions set their sights firmly on staying close to home. But travelers and stay-at-homes alike were expected to not nearly all of the nation's 73 million motor vehicles into operation on the roads at some time during the holiday, the National Safety Council said.

The safety council said that the heavy highway movement could bring about 460 traffic deaths during the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. today to midnight Monday. There were 438 traffic deaths during last year's Labor Day weekend. The record was 461 in 1951.

Southern Anti-Integration Moves Fail in Supreme Court

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Supreme Court has moved to step up the pace of public school integration in several areas at the start of the seventh school year since the desegregation ruling.

Thursday, the court rejected pleas for delay at Houston, Tex., largest segregated school system in the South; at New Orleans, where state and federal officials have been at odds for weeks; and in Delaware.

The action led Dr. Henry A. Petersen, president of the Houston School Board, to say he hoped Gov. Price Daniel would forestall integration of the first grades Sept. 7.

The first grade at New Orleans was ordered integrated Sept. 8 by U.S. District Court Judge J. Skelly Wright. However, he granted a delay until Nov. 14 when the board contended it could not implement the ruling at the start of the school year after Gov. Jimmie Davis seized control of the school system Aug. 17.

A three-judge court returned control of the New Orleans schools to the School Board Saturday. But the governor asked the Supreme Court to stay the order.

Davis declined comment on the Supreme Court's refusal to do this. But a statement issued through his press secretary declared: "Nothing has happened which has changed the determination of the public officials of the State of Louisiana to continue our system of public education on a basis of separate but equal facilities for both races."

The Supreme Court denied a plea by attorneys for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People that integration begin in New Orleans at the start of the school year Sept. 8 instead of Nov. 14.

The court also rejected a plea to delay effectiveness of a July 19 ruling of the 3rd Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia that Delaware's grade-a-year plan was too slow. The appellate court Monday ordered a modified plan be prepared for full integration of all grades by the fall of 1961.

No Paper Labor Day

So that employees of the Circleville Herald might enjoy the Labor Day weekend, there will be no edition of the newspaper Monday.

Regular features and comics which normally would appear in Monday's edition will be in Saturday's paper.

Ohio Parents Win Round in Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—The parents of Ohio's "sleeping beauty" sisters have won a legal round here. The State Supreme Court granted their petition Thursday to compel Presbyterian Hospital to disclose the results of tests made on the younger of the two girls while she was a patient there earlier this year.

Lawyers for the mother, Mrs. Lillian Frantantonio, want to know whether the hospital found traces of drugs or if it made tests to determine whether drugs were present in the bloodstream of 3-year-old Bernadette when she was a patient in the hospital. Proceedings against the mother, who is accused of drugging the children, are pending in Ohio.

Communism's Big Wheels To Attend U.N. Session

Holiday Slated To Dull Effect Of Rail Strike

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP)—The Labor Day weekend steps in tonight to put off whatever widespread economic hardship the Pennsylvania Railroad strike might cause.

"Wait until after the holiday period," said James M. Symes, the railroad's board chairman, when a reporter asked him to assess the effects of the Pennsylvania's first complete shutdown in its 114-year history.

So far only scattered layoffs have been reported as a result of the strike, which began early Thursday.

The Chrysler Corp. stamping plant near Akron, Ohio, laid off 2,000 of its 3,200 employees and considered a complete shutdown today for lack of freight transportation. That seemed to be the worst side effect for the moment.

Many industries prepared for the long-heralded strike by stockpiling raw materials and stepping up shipments of finished goods.

Normally the nation's largest railroad handles 118,000,000 tons miles of freight a day.

The Labor Day weekend was a special blessing for commuters, and 73,000 of the Pennsy's 136,000 daily passengers are commuters. They had surprisingly little trouble getting to work on the first morning, but getting home was another matter, especially in Philadelphia and New York, where most of the commuting is done.

The Pennsy had never been shut down completely before because the 20,000 nonoperating employees, members of the Teamsters Union and the small Systems Federation, had never struck before.

All but 2,000 supervisory employees of the railroad's 54,000 non-striking employees have been furloughed. The railroad operates on 10,000 miles of tracks in 12 states.

Thursday, Francis A. O'Neill Jr., chairman of the National (Railway) Mediation Board, met separately with company and union negotiating teams and said he would continue doing so through Monday.

The workers struck over job classifications and the outside companies doing repair work.

2 Men Held For Pressure On Umpires

JESSUP, Md. (AP)—Two Washington, D. C. men were arrested at Baltimore's Friendship Airport Thursday and charged with bringing extortion pressure against two American League umpires.

The umpires involved were identified as William Francis McKinley, 50, San Diego, Calif., and Edward Paul Runge, 42, Chicago, who reportedly flew to Chicago shortly after the arrests. Neither was available for comment.

The two men held were Donald E. Anderson 32, and Robert D. Waldron 30, both scheduled for arraignment today.

According to the state police account, Anderson and Waldron had telephoned the two umpires Sunday, mentioning $5,000 as payment for throwing a baseball game. Authorities said they did not know why the charge was specified as attempted extortion.

The warrant reportedly said, however, that Waldron and Anderson threatened to "flame the reputations of the two umpires."

It was learned that two striptease dancers were arrested as material witnesses in the case. They were identified as Helen R. Elia 24, picked up by District of Columbia police and turned over to Maryland authorities, and Mary Jane Spencer, 21, arrested at Suitland, Md.

State Police Sgt. S. R. Dorsey said the men were arrested about 1 a.m. at the airport while meeting the umpires. Police reportedly had arranged the meeting as a trap, and five state troopers in plain clothes were waiting.

Khrush To Embarrass U.S., Strengthen Own Red Status

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst

By deciding to pop off to New York in the midst of an American election campaign, Nikita Khrushchev apparently intends to strengthen his position against his critics within the Communist movement and embarrass the U.S. administration.

The Khrushchev decision to attend the U.N. Assembly session this month is a characteristically bold maneuver. He will not be loved for it by President Eisenhower or the U.S. political leadership, but he will be making propaganda hay furiously around the world.

And he will be doing more than that. If his eminence as the world Communist movement's chief spokesman has been challenged—and it seems to have been by some—his new journey can do much to smother that challenge.

Accompanying Khrushchev to the U.N., in all probability will be a number of Communist leaders from satellite countries, ordered to the ideological fray by the Kremlin chief. Khrushchev's presence is likely to attract heads of governments from some non-Communist countries too.

Khrushchev probably plans to make a new pitch for his universal disarmament proposal as a cure-all for world ills. The proposal is unrealistic, but it provides an excuse for the Khrushchev presence as head of the Soviet U.N. delegation. In effect, Khrushchev may be attempting to turn the U.N. session into a summit meeting.

Once again, it is to be noted, world problems will be discussed without the presence of Communist China. Khrushchev already has warned the Red Chinese their attitudes on ideological questions could lead to their isolation from the rest of the Red bloc and from the rest of the world. Events at the U.N. could be a forcible reminder of the warning.

The Chinese, annoyed by new twists of theory under Khrushchev, have elevated Stalin's ghost to an eminence it fails to occupy in the U.S.S.R. Khrushchev's adherents are tossing ideological thunderbolts at the Chinese and are laying down the Khrushchev line.

If the Communists pose a threat of World War III, that line goes it can frighten the non-Communist world into a united front. Thus, Communists must advance cautiously primarily through developing former colonial countries with the aim of isolating them from the West and thus hitting indirectly at the Western alliance.

270 Killed In Congo Fight

U.N. Tells of Rebel War in Kasai Area

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—A flareup of bloody fighting between Congolese soldiers and partisans in Kasai province has claimed at least 270 lives in the town of Bakwanga, the United Nations reported today.

U.N. officials reported scores of corpses strewn on the streets of Bakwanga, capital of the secessionist so-called Mineral State in Kasai. Many were mutilated by blows from knives and machetes.

The U.N. spokesman said one U.N. plane transported two wounded Congolese soldiers from the scene. The U.N. task force commander, Gen. Carl von Horn, gave a categorical order that all such transport be stopped.

The U.N. spokesman said Congolese soldiers and their opponents, supporters of Kasai leader Albert Kalonji, "have access to supplies of arms and ammunition."

A garrison of 125 Tunisian United Nations soldiers barricaded the local club where 110 surviving Belgian residents hovered in panic. According to United Nations reports, almost constant firing went on in Bakwanga.

"There was shooting for hours on end," a United Nations official said. "Both sides were heavily armed. They even had mortars."

Earlier today a U.N. spokesman announced United Nations Moroccan troops fired on a group of attacking armed civilians south of Thysville Thursday and killed one person.

New Dramatic Castro Move Expected at Havana Rally

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—An air of tense expectancy gripped Havana today as Fidel Castro mobilized his followers for another show of unity to rebuff what he called "aggressions" against his revolutionary regime.

The fiery Prime Minister appeared to be setting the stage for a dramatic move. Speculation ranged from an open diplomatic break with the United States to an announcement of recognition of Communist China.

Castro called the rally in Havana's Civic Plaza to answer the Organization of American States, which last week at San Jose, Costa Rica, denounced Communist meddling in the Western Hemisphere.

Castro was certain to lash back at the Declaration of San Jose, in which the OAS foreign ministers lined up solidly against Cuba to condemn interference in the Americas by the Soviet Union and Red China. But many thought he would go further.

Observers suggested several possibilities.

1. Seizure of the remaining U.S. property in Cuba—estimated to be worth 250 million dollars. The Prime Minister's brother, Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro indicated earlier this week such a move was imminent.

2. Announcement that Fidel Castro is going to head the Cuban delegation to the U.N. General Assembly opening Sept. 20 to bring "aggression" charges against the United States with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev on hand to support him.

3. Announcement that Cuba is pulling out of the OAS. This possibility was seen as remote, however, since it was felt Castro does not want to provoke a diplomatic break with other Latin-American nations where Cuban embassies serve as an outlet for spreading the revolutionary gospel.

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa heightened the suspense when he held a TV panel that Cuba would answer the Declaration of San Jose with a "Declaration of Havana."

U.S. Wins Tenth Olympic Medal

ROME (AP)—Glenn Davis led an American sweep in the 400-meter hurdles today and Tennessee State's Wilma Rudolph swept to victory in the women's 100-meter dash as United States Olympic track and field forces rose to the challenge after a disastrous start.

The two gold medals, added to the first place won by Bob Webster of Santa Anna, Calif., in the 10-meter platform dive, boosted the U.S. total to 10, only 2 short of the Russians. In the unofficial point standings, Russia had 22 1/2 the U.S. 197.

Columbus Baby Killed In Mishap with Crib

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 7-month-old girl suffocated Thursday night when she apparently got her head caught between her crib and the wall. Dr. Carl E. Tetrick, deputy coroner, said little Christine Warner somehow managed to push her head through the bars of the crib. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Warner, live with their two other children just west of Columbus.

Soviet Bloc To Be Headed By Khrushchev

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—When Nikita Khrushchev makes his second appearance on the General Assembly stage this month he will have an impressive supporting cast of government chiefs from the Soviet bloc.

Eastern Europe's top Communist brass are going to accompany the Soviet Premier to the Assembly opening Sept. 20.

Khrushchev had suggested that the heads of as many nations as possible attend the Assembly's disarmament debate. His presence along with Soviet bloc chiefs is sure to bring other top-level leaders, but diplomats expressed doubt there will be a full-scale summit meeting of the sort Khrushchev proposed.

President Eisenhower was almost certain to appear and deliver a reply to Khrushchev's speech before the Assembly.

There were indications British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan might change his mind about attending.

Sources in Paris expressed doubt President Charles de Gaulle would go to New York. De Gaulle has never shown a very high regard for the U.N. and has been dubious as to the usefulness of a disarmament debate in the General Assembly itself.

There was also speculation Cuba's left-leaning Prime Minister Fidel Castro might attend.

Informed sources expressed doubt that many of the top Asian leaders would come to New York for the session. Red China is not eligible since it does not belong to the U.N. Neither do Communist North Korea or North Viet Nam.

Neutralist Asian leaders, such as India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, gave a chilly reception to the idea of holding high-level talks at the U.N. when Khrushchev first put forward the idea.

The purported reason for Khrushchev's visit is to discuss disarmament, but officials here and in Washington speculated that the Soviet leader might plan to announce some spectacular new Soviet scientific achievement.

They recalled that only a few days in advance of his goodwill visit last September the Soviets suddenly announced that they had shot a rocket to the moon, planting the Soviet flag there.

Khrushchev came equipped with a chrome-plated model of the nose cone and presented it to President Eisenhower as a reminder of Soviet scientific might.

Diplomatic authorities are looking for a similar surprise package this time. By ballyhooing it in the heart of the capitalist world, Khrushchev could hope to press his current diplomatic offensive which pictures communism as the way of the future.

Eisenhower's advisers are cautiously surveying all angles of Khrushchev's visit in order to guide him in how to handle the situation.

At present, their view is that Eisenhower should avoid any face-to-face meeting with Khrushchev. They will recommend that Eisenhower give a reply speech at the U.N., preferably after Khrushchev has left.

But if Khrushchev formally asks for a conference, their recommendation is that Eisenhower agree, realizing that it may be nothing but a propaganda gambit.

15 U.S. Soldiers Killed in Mishap

GRAFENWOEHR, Germany (AP)—Fifteen American soldiers were killed and 28 injured today when an artillery shell exploded among them during a training exercise here, the Army announced.

It was the worst training accident for ground troops ever registered by the 250,000-man American force stationed in Germany.

An Army announcement said the shell landed outside the "artillery impact area" and exploded in a tent camp in his rain-forest area.

The announcement described all casualties as members of a 3rd Armored Division cavalry unit. An investigation is under way. Names of the dead and injured were withheld.

Jack Carries Campaign to New England

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy brought his campaign to his home stomping grounds today—with a promise that if he's elected president raising the minimum wage will get priority treatment.

In a speech prepared for delivery at Manchester, N.H., Kennedy said: "We must work to establish decent, adequate and fair national standards of unemployment compensation and minimum wage and its extension to cover millions of unprotected American workers must be one of the first items on the agenda of the next administration."

"Our unemployment benefits, too, must be standardized and extended."

"By assuring working Americans of a living wage—by assuring unemployed Americans that they will be able to have the basic necessities of life—we help not only New England against sub-standard competition—we help the entire nation."

Kennedy tried to persuade this special session of Congress to raise the present minimum wage of $1 an hour to $1.25, and to extend it to four million persons not covered now but his proposal failed.

Milk Purity Rule Issued

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration today announced a new move to protect the purity of milk.

It proposed broad regulations to prevent occurrence in milk of antibiotics and other drugs administered to dairy animals.

Deputy Commissioner John L. Harvey said the new regulations are a significant step in the elimination of sources of possible milk contamination.

Under the proposal drugs may not be marketed for treatment of milk producing animals if they leave residues in the milk for more than 96 hours.

The prohibition also would apply if the time of disappearance of the drug from the milk has not been determined.

Profit Squeeze Seen Reviving Cost-Cutting

Pinch Is Different From that Recorded In Last Recession

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The profit squeeze is reviving the cost cutting that marked the 1953-54 and 1957-58 recessions.

Declining profits depress stock prices from time to time as the new evidence of the squeeze comes out in individual corporation reports. It worries workers who wonder if they're next to be laid off.

But this time it's a new kind of profit squeeze. Industrial output has dipped too slightly to be called a recession. Employment is at a record high. Total personal income is untouched as yet. And total consumer buying is so high that most companies can't blame dwindling sales for any drop in earnings or profit margins. In fact, quite a few report record sales and still have lower profits than last year.

What is causing the profit squeeze?
The widely accepted answer is rising costs. And the finger usually is pointed at higher wage scales, the prices paid for raw materials, the prices paid for getting to the factory, and for distributing the final product.

But there's some question if that's the whole story. Let's look at the rising costs and the other factors that make the present profit squeeze different from those in the recession years.

Many wage scales are up this year, but not all. And in a number of cases companies report offsetting rising hourly scales by labor saving equipment and methods.

The same holds true for raw materials. Only a few have risen much this year. New equipment and handling practices have helped hold down costs.

Less has been said about price cutting which can slash profit margins fast. Few reported price lists have been cut. But buyers say there has been much price shading through special deals or dropping of extra charges. This has been to meet, or get ahead of, competition—and with productive capacity high, competition grows keener.

One squeeze on profits that few can deny is the steady rise in their overhead costs. In many instances this spurred during the post steel strike boom of a few months back.

The overoptimistic view of the imminence of the Glorious Sixties played a part, according to the Research Institute of America. This private industry supported advisory organization thinks that steps taken then to be ready for an expected business boom are now proving costly because the companies are saddled with the expenses but the boom didn't show.

Some of the fat that was added to overhead when companies were racing to be first to get their products to customers after the steel settlement is being trimmed off now.

But a lot of the overhead cost structure has been building up gradually in recent years and

Failure To Finish School May Bring Trip to Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Think twice before you drop out of school. Leaving school can lead to crime and prison, statistics show. Inmates with less than a high school education comprise a vast majority of Ohio prison populations. It is true that only a small percentage of those who drop out of school become prisoners.

But statistics show that most said Glenn Rich, director of election to hold a decent job. Then too, lack of education complicates effort to equip prisoners for useful functions when they get out, prison officials agreed.

Beryl Sacks, warden of Ohio Penitentiary, said only 607 inmates out of 4,732 have completed at least a high school education—12½ per cent. This is true at London Prison Farm and Marion Correctional Institution, said Murray C. Koblenz, chief of the Ohio Division of Correction.

Sacks maintains, however, that a cross-section of the general public in the same age group as the penitentiary population probably would disclose a similar number inadequate trained.

While Koblenz assents, "some of the prisoners would not be in prison if they had had a higher degree of education. It is not the sole factor, but it is the underlying one."

Sacks agrees that lack of education must be a factor in crime statistics, but "it's hard to say if they (prisoners) had had a decent education, they would not be here."

Dana W. Allen, associate superintendent of Mansfield Reformatory, is more emphatic about the weight he believes education has on the crime picture.

"A vast majority of inmates would not be here if they had had better educations, education that would have got them over that dangerous age—15 and 16 years of age—when most dropouts from school occur," Allen declared. Reformatory population is much younger than that of institutions such as the penitentiary and the impact of education more definite, Koblenz said.

The average education of the 2,400 Mansfield inmates, said Allen, is only the 7th grade. These boys have an average IQ of 90, or low average, and most of them were tailenders in their classes. Ten per cent are called functional illiterates, having attended school less than five years, Allen said. He added:

"Education has not challenged these boys in many instances, and did not meet their needs—not necessarily an academic education or even a technical one. You can't even become very technical with some of them."

They need something they can use to get a job, Allen said. "They need guidance and need to be urged to attend school more."

Truancy among boys and girls in the industrial schools is a basic factor in their now being inmates, said Glenn Rich, director of elementary and secondary education for Ohio.

Koblenz said lack of education is also damaging within the walls—making it tough from an administration viewpoint, tough to fill clerical and technical jobs within the prison.

"Those unsuccessful on parole have a sixth-grade education or less. This again augurs well the value of education," Allen commented.

Prisoners are not equipped to provide education which can be accredited by the Ohio Department of Education, said Rich. They do not have the facilities nor the trained teachers.

Allen disclosed that at Mansfield a system called the Dr. Frank C. Laubach method of instruction, designed to overcome functional illiteracy, has been inaugurated. It consists of 98 one-half hour films aimed at improving reading, and vocabulary.

Cleveland Estate Tops $2.8 Million

CLEVELAND (AP)—An inventory on file in Probate Court shows that Laurence H. Norton, treasurer and director of the Oglebay, Norton Co. who died June 11, left an estate of $2,831,631. Stock in 24 different companies accounts for $2,726,270 of the estate.

Norton gave more than a quarter million dollars to 11 public institutions in his will, filed July 1. The bequests included $75,000 to the Western Reserve Historical Society; $50,000 to Kenyon College; $50,000 to the Cleveland Museum of Art, and $25,000 each to Trinity Cathedral and the Episcopal Diocese of Ohio.

U.S. Ponders Reds in Congo

Communist Beachhead May Be Chief Aim

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials fear the Soviet Union is trying to establish a Communist beachhead in the trouble-ridden Congo under the guise of helping the United Nations restore order there.

These officials said today this conclusion appeared inescapable in view of the amount of Communist military, technical and transport aid rushed—outside U.N. channels—to the African republic in the last two weeks.

The State Department has steadfastly declined to comment on the development. Officials said privately the problem is one for the United Nations—not just the United States—to handle.

U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld is aware of the situation and is reported to be assembling information on Soviet bloc activities.

But some U.S. officials, concerned over the speed of the Soviet actions, believe the U.N. must move soon and vigorously to assert its authority if the Congo is to be kept clear of the East-West cold war struggle.

These officials said the Soviet goal apparently is to make Premier Patrice Lumumba so heavily dependent on Soviet advisers and material help to keep his nation from collapsing that he will be a willing tool afterward for further Red penetration of Africa.

More than 200 Soviet bloc technicians—some of them military and intelligence officials—are reported to have moved into the Congo, many aboard planes ostensibly carrying relief supplies.

Confidential dispatches also reported the Soviets have smuggled in small arms and ammunition along with 100 trucks and technicians landed from a Soviet ship eight days ago.

Hollywood Watches Strange Genius at Work - - Sandburg

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The man with the golfing cap over his white thatch was told he was occupying a dressing room that once housed Joan Crawford.

He chuckled and recalled: "It was in 1944, and I was attending a dinner here for Harold Ickes. This was during the presidential campaign. There was a pretty girl sitting on the other side of Ickes, and after the dinner I was introduced to her, I didn't catch her name and I had to ask her for it."

He laughed heartily. "That was quite a scandal, to think that I didn't know who Joan Crawford was."

It's possible she didn't know his name either. It's Carl Sandburg. He is now laboring in the Hollywood mills, far from his Chicago haunts, far from his contemplative retreat at Flat Rock, N.C. And he seems to be having the time of his life.

He paused from duties on "The Greatest Story Ever Told" to talk about his new job.

"George Stevens says I am a 'creative consultant,'" he said. "I'm not quite sure what that means. I will not be responsible for producing the script, but I expect to make contributions, including dialogue.

"George Stevens says that we work well together, that I am good for him and he is good for me. I think he is right."

Sandburg admitted this is his first venture into dramatic writing, but he added that he has written everything else.

"After all, I have a wider range of writing than any other American author, born or unborn—or rather living or dead," he said.

Dems in Cleveland Oppose Ferguson

CLEVELAND (AP)—A volunteer committee, "Democrats for Rhodes," opened its campaign with a buffet dinner Wednesday night. It will work for the re-election of State Auditor James A. Rhodes, a Republican.

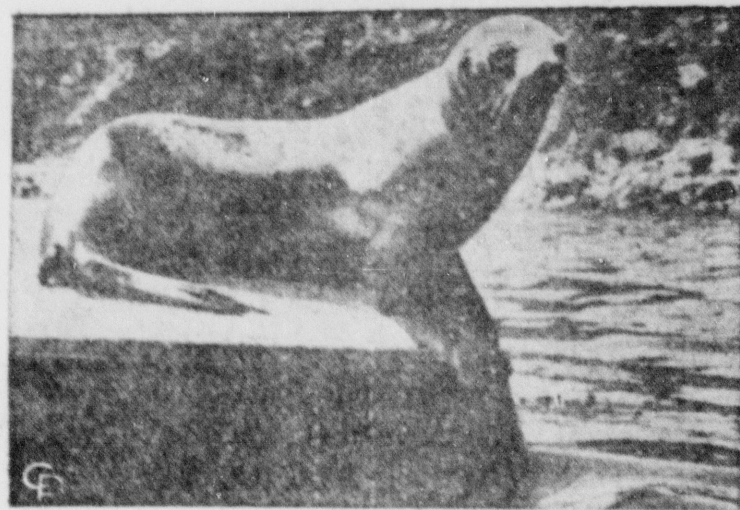

Vincent Vito, committee secretary, issued a statement saying: "We want to stress that we as Democrats cannot support the candidacy of James D. Ferguson, which would result in Ohio's tax monies being administered by a father-son team."

"We will conduct a vigorous campaign for the re-election of Rhodes just as we shall fervently work for the election of John Kennedy for the presidency of the nation."

Ferguson, Democratic candidate for state auditor, is the son of State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson.

Hitler Struck 21 Years Ago

Twenty - one years ago Adolf Hitler sent the German armies across the Polish border and thereby touched off the fuse to World War II. It was an act of open aggression, with conquest of a weaker state as its object. But it was more than that—it was a challenge to a struggle for the domination of Europe.

This was not the first reckless and unprincipled stroke in Hitler's career. There had been many others. But this one fell after Britain and France had carried appeasement to extreme lengths, had warned Hitler plainly that an attack on Poland would compel them to keep their pledge to come to Poland's aid, and had made it clear they would regard such a blow as a threat to their very existence. He knew what his order meant when he gave it.

He would not have dared to defy Britain and France if he had not first made his deal with Russia. He could not have taken

Labor Has Responsibility

Organized labor today has 15 million members and political influence which ranks it high in the counsels of government. Its leaders are highly paid and clever. Union labor has the greatest numerical strength of any movement ever developed in the U. S.

It is fortunate that a majority of organized labor believes in the system of competitive private enterprise which has made America materially great and in doing so has spread the benefits down to the average man to a greater extent than any other system has.

There are labor leaders who would end this system and supplant it with an economic

After Age 40, Where's Fun?

NEW YORK (AP) — "When does the fun begin?" plaintively asked a friend of mine some weeks after passing his 40th birthday.

He had been hearing for years that life begins at 40, and he was impatient for the change.

"What did you think would happen—that you would suddenly grow feathers?" I inquired.

"Nothing quite that dramatic," he replied. "But I'd always heard that life was different after 40—but, as of now I don't see any difference at all."

But he will—in time. The magical marvels of middle age don't dawn all at once. They come upon you gradually, pretty much like erosion.

Here are a few of the things which happen to you in the years after 40:

You give up tennis and take up shuffleboard—that is, until the game gets too exciting for your nerves.

You swear off martinis forever twice a week instead of once a month.

You become annoyed at your life insurance agent for sending you a card on your birthday.

You start reading the medical column in your daily newspaper, and no matter what ailment the

We Must Preserve Cities

City life is becoming the concern not only of politicians but of sociologists and economists. Cities are increasing in population, but every city has blighted areas, slums, places unfit for human habitation; on the other hand, cities are the centers of culture and progress in the arts and sciences.

At a meeting of the Academy of Political Science, urban problems were discussed by several experts. Of particular concern was the fact that cities strangle themselves by improper utilization of transportation facilities. Professor James Marston Fitch, of Columbia University, said:

"...Subjected to a whole set of anarchic and destructive forces, the city is expected to prove itself, medieval style, in a kind of trial by fire and water. If it survives, this theory seems to go, well and good; if it succumbs, good riddance. This preposterous attitude permits the subsidy of all sorts of forces hostile to the city and yet forbids any defensive response."

"Thus no one sees anything improper in the Federal Government's spending $5 billions to move automobiles into the city. Yet respectable opinion pretends to be outraged at the obvious corollary—that is, that there should be free tax-supported parking facilities to receive these cars once they have been dumped into the city."

The fact of the matter is that unless our cities discover a method for handling the enormous and apparently impossible traffic problem, the practical question has to be solved as to how people can live in en the risk of fighting a war on two fronts. But when he had made that bargain he did not wait long. It was only a little more than a week after the signing of the Russo-German agreement that the invasion of Poland began.

The world watched with bated breath to see whether Britain and France would be able to match German power. But communist-infested France was unable to offer the necessary resistance to a Germany so closely linked to Russia.

nomie setup little different from that of Russia. But what the average labor leader wants is a higher, not a lower, standard of living.

If labor avoids the pitfalls into which monopolies usually fall, it will continue to prosper. If it succumbs to the temptation to build overwhelming power through government, it may in the end create a government so powerful that union labor as well as every other segment of the population will be dominated by it. The result would be reestablishment, on these shores, of old world tyrannies from this generation's forefathers fled centuries ago.

the shared productive agent. Many of these productive agents such as buildings, mass transit, communication lines, and water and sewer mains constitute a fixed investment too costly to be readily duplicated elsewhere. Because it is immobile and not easy to reproduce, this massive quantity of physical capital becomes almost equivalent to a natural resource, both attracting and anchoring those industries which can find no better or cheaper substitutes.

"Any tendency, for example, for financial establishments to leave New York City would be held in check not only by close linkages to each other, but also by a complex and expensive underground network of telephone and telegraph lines radiating to every part of the globe."

Those who move into the suburbs

Most of the great cities of the world were built near rivers, on the shores of harbors or bays and later at the juncture of railroads. Few of them were planned. Most of them grew haphazard, with streets of varying sizes and in many different directions.

Naturally, old cities had no streets built for two or four-lane automobile traffic. In fact, some streets are so narrow in older cities that there is not enough room for single-lane automobile traffic.

The scarcity of garages and the unwillingness of the public to pay for garage space reduce lanes of traffic by excessive parking on streets. Cities have increasing difficulty in handling this problem. In fact, motorists, in despair, disobey the law and take their chances on getting tickets.

Largely because of the parking of cars, our cities have become filthy. Sanitation departments find that they can only clean those parts of streets which are uncovered by cars. Children cannot play on the streets and special playgrounds have to be provided for them in parks or in schoolyards at a distance from their homes.

Cities will survive. Those who believe that they can solve the urban problem by running away from it are like the people in Northern cities who feel that they have solved their own racial problems by moving to the suburbs. The Negroes they flee from come to the suburbs, too.

Cities exist because they are convenient. They exist because they are markets, because they are organized, because they provide centers of culture as well as work. Louis Winnick, Executive Director, New York State Commission on Economic Expansion, says of this: "...the city by virtue of its numbers, variety and extreme concentration becomes the habitat of WASHINGTON (AP) — Has Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev decided to create a crisis in the midst of the American presidential campaign and freeze the cold war colder than it has been for years?

Last May, after he had torpedoed the summit conference with President Eisenhower in Paris, Khrushchev indicated he would do just the opposite.

1. He would wait six or eight months—for the election of a new president—before seeking another summit meeting, this time with Eisenhower's successor.

2. In that time he would not try to force a showdown on West Berlin.

He said: "We will not do anything that might aggravate the international situation and bring it back to the worst times of the cold war."

But this week two things happened just about at the same time.

1. Khrushchev criticized both Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy. He called them both "lackeys of monopoly capital."

Since one of these two men will be the next president, Khrushchev has deliberately by this kind of insult added difficulty to having a summit meeting with either of them.

2. The Communists suddenly set up a limited blockade of West Berlin, and turned back many West German visitors seeking to reach the city by road and rail. They said it would continue through Monday.

Khrushchev has thrown insults repeatedly at Nixon. The best-remembered one came when it was rumored Eisenhower might let Nixon sit in for awhile at the summit meeting which was never held.

Khrushchev said that would be like sending "the goat to take care of the cabbage."

But he had never cut loose at Kennedy until now. He said his new appraisal was "to put an end to talk that I favor one presidential candidate and not the other." But it's possible the Kremlin has decided not to try for a summit meeting at all and intends instead to try to grab West Berlin.

The people of that city 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, give their allegiance to West Germany and the Western Allies. Yet, all travel between the East and West Berlin has to move through or over East Germany.

The presence of Western forces in Berlin has been a sore spot with the Communists since the end of World War II. Joseph Stalin tried to end that situation with a blockade in 1949, but the blockade was broken by the Western airlift. He could not at that time risk war by shooting down the airlift.

The Soviet Union at the time was in no position to try war since the United States had a monopoly on the atom bomb and a superior air force. Now the Soviets have hydrogen weapons and missiles.

The West could not—without taking the chance of seeing its alliance fall apart—make any agreement with the Soviet Union to turn West Berlin over to the Communists. But the Reds, with their present strength, could risk a blockade.

In the face of such action, if the West backed down, West Berlin would disappear behind the Iron Curtain. Whether Khrushchev has decided to have a showdown now is still not clear.

But Wednesday, Communists commanding entry to West Berlin turned back many would-be visitors from the West.

The Reds contend they are trying to keep potential agitators away from Communist East Berlin during West Berlin meetings of people who formerly lived in East Germany. This sounds pretty thin.

FUGITIVES FROM THE FBI

CHARLES CLYATT ROGERS

(In co-operation with J. Edgar Hoover, FBI Director, this paper is running descriptive articles on the criminals wanted by the FBI.)

CHARLES CLYATT ROGERS is being sought by the FBI for unlawfully fleeing the State of Florida after having been convicted for murder. He escaped from the criminally insane ward of the Florida State Hospital at Chattahoochee on March 28, 1959.

The escape was effected by dropping out of a second story window, using a rope made from three sheets tied together. Rogers, at the time, was serving a life sentence for first-degree murder.

The fugitive was charged in a Federal warrant issued at Tallahassee, Florida, on April 3, 1959, with unlawful interstate flight to avoid confinement after conviction for murder. Prior to the crime for which he is sought, Rogers had been convicted of larceny of an automobile and murder.

Also known as Charles Caldwell, Dale Morgan, Charles Neale Norris, Charles Clyde Rogers and Charlie Rogers, the wanted man has worked as fisherman and truck driver. Having been convicted of a murder in which the victim was shot with a rifle, Rogers has also escaped on several occasions. He should be considered extremely dangerous.

DESCRIPTION: Age, 31; Born, Cedar Key, Florida; Height, 5 feet 8 inches; Weight, 123 to 135; Build, slender; Hair, brown; Eyes, brown; Complexion, ruddy. Sweet Potatoes Green Peas
Salad Bowl Hot Biscuits
Blueberry Cake Beverage

BLUEBERRY CAKE
Ingredients: 1 pint cultivated blueberries, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar, 1/4 cups sifted cake flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, grated rind of 1 lemon, 1 1/3 cup milk.

Method: Wash and thoroughly drain blueberries. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in a cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches) and spread evenly. Sprinkle brown sugar evenly over butter; arrange blueberries over brown sugar. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream 1/4 cup butter and sugar. Beat in egg thoroughly with vanilla and lemon rind. Gently beat in sifted dry ingredients in 3 additions, alternately with milk; begin and end with flour mixture; beat just until smooth. Pour batter carefully over berries. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm. Cut in squares in pan or turn out. Good with whipped cream.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Reality Swept under Carpet

DEAR ABBY: I have a cleaning woman who is one for the books. She talks incessantly. I walk in the other room and she follows me. She has an imagination that is fantastic. According to her, she could have married every millionaire in town. Also she was chosen for "Miss Oregon" but her mother made her turn it down. She says she doesn't have to work but her doctor told her she has to keep busy. She claims she is related to movie stars and TV personalities.

I could go on and on. My husband says that I am the one who is crazy for keeping her around. (She is an excellent worker.) Do you think she is harmless or could this type of person be dangerous?

EMPLOYER

Dear Employer: Only a psychiatrist is qualified to judge whether a person is "harmless" or "dangerous". Your cleaning woman, poor soul, probably enjoys sweeping reality under the carpet. Let her have a good time.

DEAR ABBY: I asked this girl to go to the dance with me and she said she couldn't go because she didn't have anything to wear. Then she showed up at the dance with another guy. Do you think she was telling me the truth?

ROGER

DEAR ROGER: If she appeared without a dress, she was telling the truth.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I adopted a lovely baby 3 years ago. We were unable to have children, so need I tell you how much this child means to us?

Now my husband and I can't get along. Everything I do irritates him. And he makes me so nervous I can't think straight. The only answer is divorce. Do you think it would be fair if I kept the child for six months and my husband had her the other six months? His mother would make a home for her. This seems the only fair way. We're both young enough to start our lives over with other mates. I would like your opinion.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Divorce is NOT the answer. Sticking to gether and working out your problem IS. You owe as much (if not more) to an adopted child as you would to your own flesh and blood. There are no marital problems that can't be solved by giving, forgiving and more giving. Wipe the slate clean, and start over again—with each other.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Love Threatened" her suspicions are correct. My husband IS seeing me for other than business reasons. Who has a better right? Not all separations end in divorce. Some couples achieve a richer and happier relationship than ever before. With God's help, we shall.

U.S. Neutrality In Algeria Scorned

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—An Algerian rebel government spokesman said today the rebels "are at war with the United States, technically if not politically."

M'hamed Yazid, rebel government information minister who represented the Algerian rebels at the African nations conference here, accused the United States of aiding France in its war against Algerian guerrillas.

"American neutrality in the Algerian problem is a big lie," he declared at a news conference. "The United States has taken a position on the side of France."

Lawson Milk Price Up

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lawson Milk Co. has raised the price of a half gallon of milk by one cent to 35 cents, citing increased costs of processing and higher prices paid farmers. Other dairies here are expected to announce similar increases soon.

Miss Mary Jane White To Wed Mr. Raymond Parks

Mr. and Mrs. Carl White, 377 Cedar Heights Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Jane to Raymond Parks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Parks, Washington C. H.

Miss White was graduated by Circleville High School and is now employed at the Container Corporation. Mr. Parks was graduated by Washington High School and has recently received his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering at Ohio University, Athens. While attending Ohio University he was affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. Mr.

The wedding will be an event of September 9.

Kennedy Plans To Visit 15 Ohio Districts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Some revisions in the scheduled visits to Ohio by Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy have been announced by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

The governor said Thursday that the changes involve 15 of Ohio's 23 congressional districts. And he indicated he'll try to be with the Massachusetts senator most of the time the nominee is in Ohio.

He listed these dates:
Sept. 25—Cuyahoga County Democratic steer roast in Cleveland, then to Chicago for the debate with Republican presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon. This rules out a suggested "day of rest in Ohio" on Sunday, Sept. 25.

Sept. 27—Breakfast at Painesville, a two-hour motorcade through Cleveland, a noon stop in Lorain, possible stops between Lorain and Akron (perhaps Norwalk and Mansfield), a 6:30 p. m. meeting in Akron and at 8:40 p. m. in Canton.

Oct. 6—Cincinnati for a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner possibly staying overnight in Middletown.

Oct. 7—Breakfast meeting in Middletown, Dayton at noon and Columbus in the evening, with perhaps visits to Fairborn and Springfield in between.

Oct. 17—Youngstown for an evening meeting, time of arrival uncertain.

FUTURE STARS — Coach Paul Sarchet lectures his first group of 7th and 8th grade football candidates here. The junior high hopefuls make their debut this season under sponsorship of the Circleville Boosers Club. The ambitious young gridders drilled the first few days in gym clothes, but were scheduled to be fitted out with flashy new uniforms today. Their first game is scheduled September 29 at General Sherman in Lancaster. (Staff Photo)

Tigers Ready For Preview

Band, Glo-Worms Set to Perform

Circleville fans will get a pre-season glimpse of the CHS football squad tonight on the local gridiron. The Tigers will be decked out for the Annual Band Mothers Preview and the order of battle calls for an intersquad game. Activity will start at about 8 p. m.

Coach Carl Benhase has divided his team into two balanced units for the engagement. One crew will be designated Reds and the other Whites.

Directing the Reds will be Coaches Jack Weikert and John Adler. Leading the Whites will be Dick Fisher, Jim Lint and Paul Sarchet. Casting the most critical eye on the proceedings will be head coach Benhase.

MISSING tonight's fracas will be left halfback Garold Dade who is sidelined with a head injury suffered in the Groveport scrimmage here Tuesday.

The promising sophomore may be out for several days, depending on the healing speed of the injury. Dade's absence probably will mean the switching of Fullback Chuck McDowell to left half and the insertion of Lineman Rupert Rudd to fullback. Center Danny Moffitt will have a crack at Rudd's guard post.

Football will be only a part of the entertainment. Also on the card is Truman Eberly's CHS Band which has been practicing long and hard for the coming grid season. Additional entertainment will be provided by the Band Mothers who have lined up 16 local fathers for an expected "Hit Show". They are billed as the Glo-Worms with plenty of glimmer and glitter.

Tribe Thankful For Foe Like Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Thank goodness for the Kansas City Athletics! It's hard to imagine where the Cleveland Indians would be without their Missouri "cousins."

The Indians whipped the A's for the 10th straight time Thursday night, 7-3 as Barry Latman (4-5) turned in his third straight triumph. He wasn't exactly overpowering, however, surrendering 15 hits.

But the Tribe, with John Romano and Tito Francona leading the way, collected 13 hits. Romano had a home run, his 14th, and a pair of singles. Francona had two singles and a double.

The game marked the return of Woodie Held at shortstop. Held had been sidelined since July 18 with a broken finger. He had a double in five trips to the plate.

The Indians built up a 6-1 lead for Latman by the sixth inning and the 24-year-old right-hander coasted from there. Latman helped himself considerably with a two-run single in the second inning, scoring Marty Keough and Romano, both of whom had singled.

The A's scored in the second with three bloop hits. The Indians made it 3-1 in the third inning on a double by Francona, a single by Vic Power, Romano's homer made it 4-1 in the fourth. Two more Cleveland runs crossed in the sixth on singles by Romano, Ken Aspromonte and Francona. Andy Carey's homer in the sixth cut Cleveland's lead to 6-2 in the seventh.

Defeats in Olympics Seen Rousing U.S. 'Picnickers'

ROME (AP) — Overconfidence, poor management and lack of dedication were blamed today for the sudden and shocking collapse of America's brightest gold medal hopes in the Olympic Games.

"It is a real tragedy," said Harold Connolly, world hammer throw champion, "and so un-called-for. I am not the least surprised. Maybe this will wake us up at last."

"We treat the Olympics as if it's a big Sunday picnic. To most Workouts ranged from cautions to heavy scrimmages as the nation's college football squads, abiding by NCAA rules, held their first practice sessions Thursday, for the most part in steaming heat.

It was get-acquainted day for many new coaches. For others it was starting where they left off last fall. Coach Jack Mitchell at Kansas put a team on the field which had a good chance of being the starting lineup in the opener with TCU Sept. 17.

The heat was one of the big problems. Many coaches welcomed it as it speeded the shedding of excess sweat picked up by some of the athletes.

Others dodged the sun as much as possible. Clemson and South Carolina had 6 a.m. drills. North Carolina State, which has four night games this season, skipped the heat and got used to the lights by holding one of its two workouts at night.

There was the usual run of minor bumps and bruises, and at least four knee injuries were reported. The most serious was that of left end Luke Kierouac of Boston College. He suffered a torn cartilage which will require an operation, and he may be out for the season.

The first day also gave a hint as to what might be expected at some schools this fall. Ohio State, for instance, looks like it might have the lightest and fastest team in years, with the emphasis on speed and passing.

Oklahoma, a perennial national power, swung right into contact work as Coach Bud Wilkinson kept a sharp eye on springtime hospital cases.

Coach Tom Nugent sent his Maryland squad through a full-scale 10-minute scrimmage, and the Tufts squad got the same treatment.

At Michigan Bump Elliott began his search for a No. 1 quarterback. At Notre Dame, Joe Kuharich held two workouts, as did most schools, but because of the heat the players didn't wear pads.

Jim Hickey at North Carolina started polishing his team's running game, and at Rutgers new Coach John Bateman started converting the style from a single wing to a double wing T.

23 Lettermen Report For OU Grid Practice

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio University moves into its second day of football drills today in preparation for the 1960 season opener at Dayton, Sept. 17. Sixth-two Bobcats reported Thursday to Coach Bill Hess, including 23 lettermen, eight of whom held regular starting berths last year.

Diver Gives U.S. Its 8th Olympic First Place Medal

ROME (AP) — Bob Webster of Santa Ana, Calif., setting the style for a determined comeback by Uncle Sam's athletes, gave the United States its eighth gold medal of this XVII Olympic Games and a sweep of the diving competition today by beating teammate Gary Tobian for the platform title.

It was the seventh gold medal for the United States at the Olympic pool, and Webster won it with a splendid surge in the semifinals and the finals after placing ninth in the preliminaries.

The victory by the 21-year-old University of Michigan student also regained supremacy in the event for America, and made up, in part, some of the lost prestige suffered when Germany's Ingrid Kramer scored a sweep of the women's diving in a stunning upset.

While Webster defeated the favored Tobian, who had won the springboard gold medal, by 31 of a point, three Olympic record-breaking performances shared the morning spotlight on this sixth full day of competition.

Japan's Tsuyoshi Yamakawa broke the men's 1,500-meter freestyle swimming record, held by America's George Breen, in a preliminary heat with a clocking of 17 minutes, 46.6 seconds. The old mark, held by the Indianapolis school teacher who will face Yamakawa in Saturday's finals, was 17:52.9, set at the 1956 games in Melbourne.

And in qualifying track and field events, Russia's Vasily Rudenkov set a record in the hammer throw—minutes after it had been established by Hungary's Gyula Zsivotzky — pushing the mark to 219 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Zsivotzky had cracked the old mark, 207-3/4, set by Hal Connolly of Santa Monica, Calif. in 1956, with a toss of 212-6 1/2. Connolly, the world record holder, had no trouble qualifying for this afternoon's final, although settling for 206-9 1/4.

At Hall of Southington, Conn., also qualified in the hammer, but Ed Bagdonas of Templeton, Mass., failed.

It was in track and field that Uncle Sam took his worst Olympic drubbing Thursday, and where U.S. aces sternly set off for a comeback today.

Ray Norton, fully frustrated as Germany's Armin Hary crushed U.S. supremacy in the 100-meter dash, led a trio of U.S. entries into the second round of the 200 meters. Hary, and Canada's Harry Jerome, coholder of the world record for 100 meters with the German, scratched from the 200 to rest for the 400-meter relay.

While Norton, from Oakland, Calif., was joined by Les Carney of Akron, Ohio and Stone Johnson of Dallas in the 200, Favored Ralph Boston of Laurel, Miss., and Irv Roberson of Fort Lee, Va., gave the United States two finalists in the broad jump.

And Mrs. Earlene Brown of Los Angeles, qualifying without even shedding her sweat suit, moved into the finals of the women's shot put.

Still, it was in swimming that the United States staked its highest hopes of adding to its gold medal collection and unofficial point total in a race for over-all team honors with Russia.

The Soviet, however, appeared well on its way to wrapping up another title, Russia, with 12 gold medals, went into the day's competition with 219 1/2 points. The U.S. total was 153 at day's start.

At the Olympic pool Alan Somers of Indianapolis joined Breen and Yamakawa among the heat winners, and four U.S. girls had no trouble qualifying for Saturday's finals in the 400-meter freestyle relay.

Donna de Varona, the Lafayette, Calif. youngster who is barely a teen-ager; Susan Doerr, Washington Valley, Pa.; Sylvia Ruuska, Berkeley, Calif.; and Molly Botkin, Sherman Oaks, Calif., were times in 4:18.9. That was second only to Australia's 4:17.6 among the relay qualifiers.

Mike Troy of Indianapolis, the world record holder, and Dave Gillanders of Royal Oak, Mich., were Uncle Sam's entries in the finals of the men's 200-meter butterfly later in the day.

The day's events, which saw the U.S. men's fencing team eliminated in the final round of the foil competition, also included semifinals in the rowing repechages. No less than seven U.S. entries were shooting for comebacks in the "second chance" round, including a Navy crew set on extending America's streak of eight gold medals in the eight-oar competition.

The U.S. swimmers scored a crushing win in the men's 400 meter medley relay in 4:05.4, breaking their own world record of 4:08.2 set only last Saturday. Then Chris von Saltza, 16, of Saratoga, Calif., beat her own Olympic mark of 4:53.6 in the 400-meter women's freestyle finals with a 4:50.6. She whipped such Australian greats as Dawn Fraser and Lisa Konrads with ease.

To cap it, the men's 800-meter freestyle relay team decisively defeated Australia and Japan in 8:10.2, a world record that bettered the Aussies' 8:16.6 with much to spare. In finishing second, Japan also busted the mark with 8:13 and ironically Australia, in third, did it too with 8:13.8.

While all this cheered the American camp, there was gloom over the track and field.

John Thomas, hold of the world record of 7 ft. 3 1/4 inches in the high jump, failed dismally to clear 7 ft. 1 inch and defaulted the gold and silver medals to Russia's Robert Shavlakadze and Valerie Brumel. Thomas got third and the bronze.

Russia's Irina Press won the women's 80-meter hurdles and Elvira Czolina grabbed the javelin. George Kerr, of the West Indies, and Peter Snell of New Zealand dominated the 80-meter semifinals. Americans Tom Murphy, of Brooklyn, Jerry Siebert of the University of California and Ernie Cunliffe, Claremont, Calif. all were eliminated.

Climax of American frustration was in the brilliant 10-meter dash. Hary breasted the tape in :10.2, equalling his own Olympic record set only this week for the gold medal.

Dave Sime, Durham, N.C., made a mighty lunge to just miss. But he equalled the time, spiking himself and teammate Frank Budd of Asbury Park, N.J., in the heroic attempt.

All-Stars Schedule Picnic at Park

A covered-dish picnic will honor the Circleville Babe Ruth League All-Star team Sunday at Ted Lewis Park.

Team members, parents and managers will attend the event. Each family or group is requested to bring a covered dish.

The All-Star managers will provide hamburgers, along with buns, for grilling. Soft drinks also will be available.

Braves Move Into 2nd Place In NL Flag Race

Pittsburgh Chalks Victory over Giants, Milwaukee Tames Cubs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente continues to whale the tar out of San Francisco pitching. Milwaukee's Bob Buhl continues to tame the Chicago Cubs. Los Angeles' Don Drysdale continues to whiff Philadelphia batters and St. Louis' George Crowe continues to hit pinch home runs.

That was pretty much the National League story Thursday as the Pirates drubbed the Giants 6-1, Milwaukee walloped the Cubs 10-1, the Dodgers nipped the Phillies 3-2 in 11 innings and Cincinnati's Reds slapped down the Braves 7-4. The Braves, by winning, climbed into second place, half a game ahead of the Cardinals.

In the only American League game, Cleveland defeated Kansas City 7-3.

Clemente, in 18 games against San Francisco, has compiled a .356 batting average with 17 runs batted in. For the second straight day, he cracked three hits, including a home run. The four-bagger came with two on in the first inning, off starter Georges Maranda. It proved to be enough for Harvey Haddix.

The veteran left-hander needed help from Clem Labine in the sixth but he was credited with his 10th triumph.

Buhl, backed by an 11-hit attack, limited the Cubs to six hits for his 13th victory. The Milwaukee right-hander has beaten the Cubs four times in his last five decisions. Joe Adcock was the big Braves hitter with a pair of home runs driving in four runs.

Dick Drott, starting for the first time since July 2, was the loser. Vada Pinson hit a three-run homer off Bob Gibson in the seventh to snap a 3-3 tie in Cincinnati's victory over the Cardinals. Bob Purkey went the distance for his 15th victory.

A single by pinch hitter Duke Snider of Los Angeles with one out and the bases full broke up the game. Snider, batting for Charlie Neal against relief pitcher Dick Farrell, slammed a pitch against the left-field screen, scoring Tommy Davis from third.

Drysdale, in 35 2/3 innings against the Phillies this year, has fanned 45. He had to go 11 innings for Thursday night's victory his 12th against 13.

Youth against experience, pitching against power. That's going to be the pattern in Baltimore this weekend as Paul Richards' Baby Birds and Casey Stengel's veteran New York Yankees clash in a pennant-bearing three-game set starting tonight.

The Orioles, of course, have the best pitching in the American League while the Yankees, with 160 home runs to their credit, have the most power.

This is the big opportunity for the Orioles to take over first place. They trail the Yankees by one game but they are three down in the losing side. That means they must sweep the series. Two out of three would still leave them percentage points behind the Yankees.

The pitching setups for each team follows the battle pattern—Yankee experience against Oriole youth. Whitey Ford, the Yankees' ace, faces 21-year-old Milt Pappas tonight. Saturday it will be Art Ditmar, winner of his last seven starts for New York, against 21-year-old Jack Fisher. Sunday's finale will pit Bob Turley against 22-year-old Chuck Estrada.

Iron Man Grid Era Is Ended By Buckeyes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University's football team started practicing Thursday and it appeared that the Buckeyes have ended an eight-year era of "iron man" football.

Coach Woody Hayes nominated starting offensive and defensive teams and six of the 22 players are sophomores.

Hayes appeared well pleased at the general trimness of the squad of 75 that appeared Wednesday for a picture-taking session. The first workouts began Thursday.

Fullback Bob Ferguson checked in at 229 pounds compared to last spring's 217. Tackle Dick Laskowski was up from 214 to 240 and center Bob Butts returned at 230 pounds compared to 212 last year.

But most of the talent was down to fighting weight and ready to usher in the "platoon era" in style.

Hayes' opening lineup, "subject to change," he stipulates—includes no surprises. Quarterback Tom Matte, an active 200 pounds, had Ed Ulmer and Bob Klein, two sophomores, at the halfbacks of his offensive unit, with Ferguson at fullback behind a line of Bob Middleton and Church Bryant, ends; Jim Tyrer, the biggest man at 6-5, 250 pounds, and Bob Vogel, 6-5 and 230, tackles; Gabe Hartman and Oscar Hauer, guards, and Butts, center.

New Holland Pacer Wins Handicap Event

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) — Berrymite, owned by Joe and Richard Asher of New Holland Ohio, beat Uncle Dave by a nose Thursday night in the $6,000 Handicap Pace at Roosevelt Raceway.

The 7-year-old sidewheeler, driven by Jimmy Cruise, closed with authority in the final strides and flashed across the finish line in 2:01 1/5 for his second straight victory of the meeting and his fifth in 14 starts this season.

Berrymite returned $14.60. Winnow was third by a neck.

Purdue Rookie Eyed by Brown

FOREST GROVE Ore. (AP)—Ross Fichtner, 22-year-old rookie who starred at quarterback for Purdue, will get his chance to win a place on the Cleveland Browns as a defensive halfback in the exhibition game against San Francisco Saturday night at Portland.

Fichtner, a six-footer from McKeesport, Pa., and on the light side at 185, missed the early weeks of practice because he played with the College All-Stars. Last December in the Blue-Gray game, he was voted the game's most valuable player.

Fichtner and another Pennsylvanian, Dick Mostardo, All Mid-American Conference quarterback last fall when he played for Kent, are rivals for one of three vacancies Coach Paul Brown is trying to fill in the secondary defense.

'Gunsmoke' To Start New Series on TV This Week

NEW YORK (AP)—The regular television season really gets into swing the first week of October, but "Gunsmoke," a shoot-'em-up series starts its 1960-61 year this week.

There's prospect of some change for James Arness and Amanda Blake with the development of a love interest. It'll take more than a week to develop, however, so the show'll look pretty familiar Saturday night.

The week also is highlighted by a new pace of business for a long-time heart wrencher. From now on, starting at 12:30 p.m. Monday and every day thereafter, "Queen For a Day" will come from ABC.

CBS continues its coverage of the Summer Olympic Games in Rome, with twice nightly reports. Here are other top shows of the week (all times Eastern Day-light):

SATURDAY: 9:30 p.m. — NBC

—Project 20 looks behind the Iron Curtain in "Nightmare in Red" (rerun).

SUNDAY: 1 p.m. — ABC—College News Conference with guest Walter Reuther; 3 p.m.—ABC—Open Hearing hears Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller; 5 p.m.—ABC—Melvyn Douglas narrates Labor Day program; 6 p.m.—NBC—Edwin Newman reports on the "Scopes Trial"; 8 p.m.—NBC—"Music On Ice"; 8 p.m.—CBS—Ed Sullivan Show.

TUESDAY: 8 p.m. — CBS—The Miss America Parade, from Atlantic City.
WEDNESDAY: 7:30 p.m.—ABC—"Music For a Summer Night" salutes the late Oscar Hammerstein II; 10 p.m. — CBS — Steel House comedy with Arlene Francis, Hans Conrard and Howard Morris.

THURSDAY: 9:30 p.m. — ABC—"Untouchables" reruns its version of the assassination of Chicago Mayor Anton Cermak.

Highway Safety Tied to Religion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

What do it profit a man, so to say, if he gain a few minutes on the highway and suffer the loss of his life.

Or to bring the question more in focus for this Labor Day weekend, do motorists have a moral obligation—apart from the physical risk of police action—to drive safely?

Religious spokesmen say yes. Their views encompass a Southern Baptist leader's belief that bad driving is "a sin against God" and a Catholic bishop's denial of Christian burial to persons guilty of criminal negligence on the highway.

Nor is the morality idea restricted to religious leaders. The Iowa Department of Public Safety, for example has a "Safety Sabbath" campaign going—complete with a suggested prayer for motorists.

Foy Valentine of Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary of the Christian Life Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention, points out there also is a positive side to the question.

"To drive recklessly, dangerously, unlawfully or even carelessly," he said, "is to reject the basic Christian revelations concerning the worth of every person."

The Most Rev. Maurice Schexnayder, Catholic bishop of Lafayette, La., takes an admittedly severe approach.

His edict of last July 1, shortly after nine died in an auto accident in his diocese, is believed to be the first of its kind in the nation and applies only to his flock.

The crux of his edict was this: "Drivers of vehicles who are declared by the competent police officials to have been criminally negligent in highway accidents resulting in death to themselves are not to be given Christian burial unless the chancery (bishop's) office has first been consulted and the facts of the case warrant such burial."

Another Catholic bishop, the Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, of Davenport, Iowa, has endorsed his state's "Safety Sabbath" campaign to promote safe driving over Labor Day. He said "There is a moral obligation for every automobile driver to observe the rules of safety on the roads."

Savings Bonds Sales Increase

Judge William D. Radcliff, county chairman of the Saving Bond Division, US Treasury Department, today reported that July sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds for Pickaway County totaled $54,397.

The County Chairman further stated "the guaranteed rate of 3 1/2 per cent on E and H Bonds, as it becomes better known, coupled with the tax deferral feature of E Bonds, has apparently been an important factor in the steady rise in sales during recent months."

Mrs. Runyon Wins At Art Exhibit

There were over 150 paintings entered in the exhibit from all over Ohio.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Scattered thunderstorms, a few locally severe, occurred over northern Ohio Thursday evening. Youngstown reported wind gusts to 70 miles per hour and small water spouts were seen on Lake Erie.

During the early morning today, skies were mostly fair. Temperatures were in the 60s, Toledo and Cleveland with 63, Columbus 67 and Dayton 69.

A cool front extended across the central section this morning, moving slowly southward. Light northerly wind will bring an end to the 90-degree temperatures over the northern half of the state today, but hot temperatures up to 94 degrees are indicated for the southern section.

Cooler weather will spread over the state tonight, and the southern section Saturday. No rain is indicated for the long Labor Day weekend.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST
Temperatures will average about 6 degrees above normal. Normal high 79 north to 81 south, normal low 58-60. Cooler tonight and in southern sections Saturday, warmer again about Monday or Tuesday. Little or no precipitation indicated Saturday through Wednesday.

Liquor Request Rejected by Board

Application for renewal of a liquor permit by Robert Trego, Commercial Point, has been rejected by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

According to the control board, the owner does not prepare and serve hot meals as required in the legal definition of a restaurant. The board stated the premises do not comply with regulations in that the supply of hot and cold running water is not adequate and there are no hand washing facilities.

Applicants have the privilege to appeal to the board from the department's decision. The appeal must be filed within 30 days after date of notification.

Trego applied for a permit for on premises consumption and carry-out of 3.2 per cent beer.

In the month of January, 1969, a total of 71.54 inches of rain fell at Helen Mine, Calif.

State Fair To Close Today, Attendance Record Assured

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 1960 Ohio State Fair closed out its eight-day run today with paid attendance for the first seven days already surpassing the total for all of last year's show.

Including Thursday's receipts through 9 p.m., a fair spokesman said 254,528 persons paid admission to the fairgrounds, compared to last year's eight-day total of 233,551. That's an increase of 20,977. Actually, the 1959 figure was surpassed after the first six days this year.

The figures do not include many thousands of children under 12 who were admitted free, along with other special groups. Today, for instance Little League baseball players got in free.

A former state fair manager, meanwhile, expressed the belief that the fair should be removed from politics so that "it isn't susceptible to each change of administration."

Bryan B. Sandles, now Clark County fair manager, said frequent changes of state fair managers destroy the long-range continuity of the exposition.

"Each time there's a change in administration, a new manager comes and thinks he has to start from scratch," Sandles told a reporter.

"I have seen so many master plans it is pathetic."

"There should be a continuing board to carry through a long-range plan and develop the fair on the high plane it should be."

Sandles, who left the state fair in 1946 after serving 16 years in various capacities, disagreed with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle on eliminating grandstand entertainment.

"Good, wholesome entertainment is like dessert after a good meal," he said.

One of the major attractions of the fair's final day was a 10-event program of motorcycle races over a half-mile oval with $3,500 in prize money. Vying for the cash were 34 nationally known riders from 11 states and Canada.

The fair's four-day harness racing program wound up Thursday with the featured $23,000 Governor's Cup Trot for three-year-olds. The winner was Ava Song, driven by Eddie Boyer and owned by A. G. Gordon, both of Washington Court House.

Ava Song captured the race-off beat by going the mile in 2:06 3-5 to beat out Nike Hanover and Lloyd's Demon. The latter horse won the first heat and Ava Song triumphed in the second.

Right Time, driven by John Patterson, sped the mile in 2:00 2-5 in the Maturity Pace for four and five-year-olds to establish a new state fair mark. The old record of 2:01 2-5 was set by Flaming Arrow in 1956. Right Time is owned by Byron D. Kuth of Chesterville.

Judy Firestone of Bath, Ohio, won the Elizabeth S. Drew Memorial Challenge Trophy in the $1,000 working hunter stake division of the fair horse show Thursday night with her entry, Princess Jack.

The winner of the third Holstein Futurity held at the fair Thursday was Logwood Farms, Reisterstown, Md., with its entry, "Logwood Col Flora."

Other livestock judging results included:

Grand champion Hampshire sow

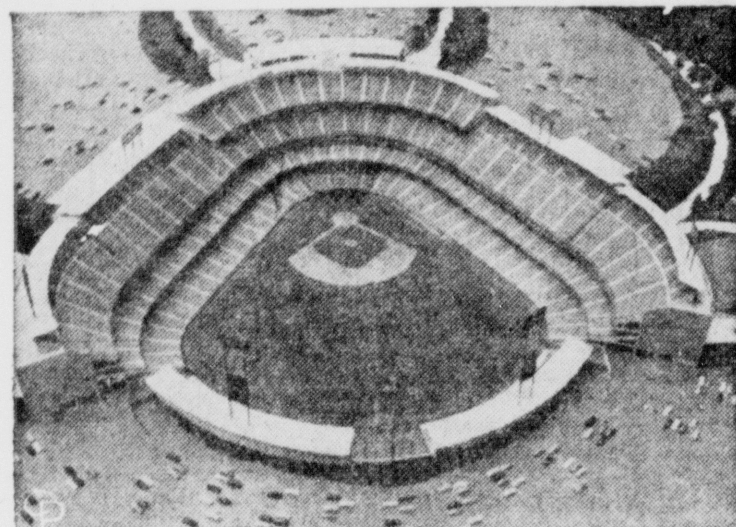

(for the seventh consecutive time) —William H. Litt, Fredericktown; reserve champion — Charlie Andrews, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg.

4-H Aberdeen Angus beef cattle, champion female—Jay Penick, Hebron; reserve champion—Deanna Baker, Leesburg.

Grand champion shorthorn steer —Charles Beal Mount Zion; reserve champion—Gerald Miller, Luckey.

Ohio's 4-H health improvement project winners, announced Thursday, were Alice May Evans, Cedarville, and Harry J. Halliday Jr., Rt. 1, Powell, both 16.

The winners, selected from a group of 50 boys and girls interviewed, were picked on the basis of club community and individual health activities, and a personal health examination. Miss Evans and Halliday will receive expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago this November.

NEW HOME OF DODGERS—This is a scale model of how the new home of the Los Angeles Dodgers will look when completed in Chavez Ravine. Final hurdle was cleared when the L. A. building department issued a permit for construction of the $8,500,000 ball park.
